

Observe best practices in a classroom like yours

The Teaching In Action program allows teachers to visit other DCPS classrooms to observe best practices and meet with effective educators to learn more about their teaching strategies.

Through this program you can:

- View teachers' profiles and teaching strengths online.
- Reserve a time to observe a teacher in a classroom like yours.
- Meet with the observed teacher in a post-visit conference and learn how to implement strategies in your own classroom.
- Observe teachers in the following content areas:

-
- |                     |              |                      |
|---------------------|--------------|----------------------|
| • ELA               | • Science    | • Literacy           |
| • Math              | • Visual Art | • World Languages    |
| • Early Childhood   | • Music      | • Dual Language      |
| • Special Education | • Elementary | • Physical Education |
| • Social Studies    | • ESL        | • Health             |

To view teacher profiles and reserve a time to observe someone, go to <http://octo.quickbase.com> and click on "DCPS Teaching In Action"