

Let's Discuss the State of Community Historic Preservation in DC!

2012 DC Community Heritage Project Symposium -
Contributing to the Historical Narrative
Thursday June 28, 2012
6:15 – 8:30
Cleveland Park Library

HUMANITIES COUNCIL
OF WASHINGTON, DC

This year's program will include a brief workshop during the opening reception that will provide a step-by-step demonstration of digital preservation techniques. Bring a personal history item to be scanned.

Following the workshop, a panel of local historians and preservationists led by moderator Mickey Fearn, Deputy Director of the National Parks Service will discuss the "State of DC Local History."

The final element of the program will include remarks from Jefferson Bailey, a current Fellow at the Library of Congress' Office of Strategic Initiatives. He will deliver a seminar on digitally preserving personal artifacts and heirlooms, using items scanned during the reception at the start of the event.

RSVP today for this FREE opportunity to learn how you can participate in local historic preservation.

Register at <http://dcchpsymposium2012.eventbrite.com/>, or call (202) 387-8391, or email info@wdchumanities.org